

Life in Gaza Today

A collection of paintings by Christian and Muslim children and adult artists who live in Gaza

Adelaide Town Hall

17 March to 7 April 2010

After the invasion of the Gaza Strip in December 2008, the Australian Major Issues and Theology Foundation commissioned a number of paintings showing images of life in Gaza. This was a way of both contributing economically to communities in Gaza and learning about conditions in a place very few people are permitted to visit and even fewer are allowed to leave. The result is this exhibition, Life in Gaza Today.

"The paintings of this exhibition are a silent though eloquent testimony of a people living under intolerable conditions with dignity and hope. May the paintings touch you and bring the people of Gaza close to you".
